

2009 EARLY SPRING EDITION

the CE CBR buzzer

CAMPS EQUINUNK AND BLUE RIDGE

Features

- 85 Days and Counting
- Important Dates
- Facility Update
- Winter Photo Gallery

REMINDER: No bottled water, food, plastic drawers, or hair irons.

SUGGESTION: When labeling clothes and towels please do not use iron-on labels as they often detach in the laundry. And

REMEMBER to label everything !!!

Eighty Five Days and Counting...

Friends and family traveled from far and wide to attend the Equinunk and Blue Ridge Winter Reunion. The day was cold and the forecast was grim, but neither snow flurries nor a blizzard could keep the dedicated campers and families away from a day with each other.

Having attended the reunion for the first time, I could not get over the energy and excitement that filled the rooms and hallways of the reunion. Warm and friendly faces whose smiles told the story of what a wonderful place camp is, and just how much it means to them.

What I witnessed that day were counselors who were just as excited to see their campers as were the campers to see their favorite counselors; proud parents who were so welcoming that their faces radiated while they told me about their children, and campers who could not wait to see their best friends, the kind of best friend in which you share that very special

(continued page 2)

Important Dates

- New Parent Meeting: May 13, 2009
- All Forms Due: May 15, 2009
- New Camper Picnic: June 7, 2009
@ Camp Jacobson at Robin Hood
Brookville, New York
CE 11-12:15 CBR 12:15-1:30
- Florida Travel Day: June 27, 2009
- First Day of Camp: June 28, 2009
- Alumni Day: July 11, 2009
- Visiting Day: July 18, 2009
- Color War Break: I don't think so...
- Last Day of Camp: August 15, 2009

CREATING MEMORIES THAT LAST A LIFETIME

www.camequinunk.com

info@cecbr.com

www.campblueridge.com

info@cecbr.com

and indescribable camp bond.

The exuding excitement has been contagious! With less than 85 days until the first day of camp, I can't wait!!!! As always, please feel free to call the office with any questions, or just to say hello! I look forward to seeing everyone this summer!

-Stacy Fleischman
CBR Asst. Director

Facility Spotlight

With all of the new projects for 2009, our crew up at camp has been super busy - and thankful that the feet of snow is finally melting. As many saw last October when up at camp for Fall Foliage, we had begun the redesign of the CBR campus which included 8 new bunks. The decision to locate one of our two new quad bunks on the other side of girl's HQ has created an openness and beauty beyond anyone's imagination. Now with all of the bunks complete and front campus taking shape, I am sure you will all be just as thrilled as we are. Last fall we shared with you the details on the makeover of CE's Lehrer soccer and lacrosse fields, and the addition of Level III to the E-rena fitness center featuring the hottest trends in personal training, conditioning, yoga, and pilates (for boys and girls). Well we did not stop there. The building of Equinunk's brand new Sophomore House last summer also included an enormous subterranean recreation area. This year the "Soph Clubhouse" opens its doors to the Upper and Lower Sophs of 2009. The clubhouse will create even more indoor recreation and sports areas designed just for our youngest campers. Mini-soccer, adventure games, solar system sleepovers, reading club, and everything else Soph Group Head Kevin Gray can dream up with 3,800 sq ft of fun. And for the CIT's of 2009 we have begun the transformation of their bunk into The Lodge. With one of the largest CIT groups (Counselors In Training) in camp history there was simply no space for them all to live. The CIT Lodge will be doubled in size from its existing structure, gutted and refurbished on the inside and out, and completed with new entertainment features. Their days will be spent working hard with our campers as well as playing their own leagues and activities, so we are absolutely delighted to have the new CIT Lodge ready for them this summer. With only 85 days till the busses depart for camp, I can't wait to share with you all of the great additions to Equinunk and Blue Ridge for the Summer of 2009.

All my best, Adam Baker - Director

Our Winter Wonderland

